Greg Hulbert Joins Jones Lang LaSalle in Northern California

Construction Veteran Brings Project Management Skills to Silicon Valley Clientele

San Jose, May 31, 2007 -- Jones Lang LaSalle, Inc. announced that Greg Hulbert, a 20-year veteran of the real estate and construction industries, has joined the firm as Vice President and will be responsible for leading the firm's Project and Development Services (PDS) assignments in Silicon Valley. Mr. Hulbert will be based in Jones Lang LaSalle's East Palo Alto office.

Announcing the appointment, Bruce Kimbrew, Managing Director in charge of Project and Development Services in the Pacific Northwest said, "We're delighted to welcome Greg to the firm. He has impeccable credentials and an unparalleled reputation in his field. He will be a tremendous asset to the firm and our clients throughout the region and especially in Silicon Valley."

Prior to joining Jones Lang LaSalle, Mr. Hulbert was Account Director at Liberty Greenfield/California Inc., where he developed and implemented real estate strategies, and provided construction logistics and contracting strategies for large corporate clients such as Blue Shield, SGI and FormFactor. Prior to that position, he was Director of Development for DPR Construction, Inc., a Northern California-based national general contractor specializing in technically demanding construction projects, such as facilities for biotech, pharmaceutical and microelectronics companies.

Mr. Hulbert began his career with Dinwiddie Construction as a Project Manager in San Francisco, where he worked on a number of high-profile projects, including the renovation of the public recreation and retail portions of the Embarcadero Center, construction of the Hyatt Regency hotel and the renovation of St. Joseph's Cathedral in San Jose.

A LEED-Accredited Professional as recognized by the U.S. Green Building Council, Mr. Hulbert also holds a California Real Estate Sales license as well as qualifications from San Francisco State University and the U.C. Berkeley Extension in Construction Project Management and the Legal Aspects of Construction. He earned a B.A. in Sociology from Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire.

Mr. Hulbert was a founding member of CoreNet Global's Northern California chapter. Prior to the 2001 merger of NACORE and IDRC as CoreNet, he was an active member of the board of NACORE. From 2002 to 2005, Mr. Hulbert was President of the Northern California Chapter of CoreNet and currently is on the organization's advisory board.

Jones Lang LaSalle has more than 600 employees throughout Northern California and manages more than 35 million square feet of the area's most prestigious commercial real estate. In 2006 alone, Jones Lang LaSalle completed over 4.4 million square feet of lease transactions, valued at $415 million, on behalf of occupiers, and arranged $1.9 billion of investment sales in Northern California.
