CAMDEN PROPERTY TRUST PARTICIPATES IN ARBOR DAY TREE PLANTING EVENTS

Houston, TEXAS (May 4, 2010) – Camden Property Trust (NYSE: CPT) recently participated in two tree planting events in honor of Arbor Day on April 30, 2010. Camden partnered with New Hope Housing and HomeAid Houston, both non-profit organizations dedicated to providing housing for the homeless (New Hope) and for adults living on limited incomes (HomeAid). The tree planting events were held at Brays Crossing and Gracewood in Houston, Texas.

“Brays Crossing and Gracewood are both charitable communities dedicated to helping those in need,” said Steve Hefner, Camden’s Senior Vice President of Construction. “Over the years, we have planted more than 80,000 trees at our apartment communities, and we were honored to join New Hope and HomeAid for such a worthy cause.”

“Camden has made a commitment to conserve and contribute to green initiatives,” said Malcolm Stewart, Camden’s Chief Operating Officer. “We have implemented many changes, and we continually assess our approach and strive to expand our efforts as an organization, communicating these efforts to both our internal and external customers.”

New Hope Housing's core purpose is to create life-stabilizing affordable apartment homes with a sense of dignity for adults who live singly on limited incomes. Their vision is to develop and operate supportive single room occupancy (SRO) communities for more than 1,000 adults by 2015. HomeAid is a leading national non-profit provider of housing for today’s homeless. The Houston chapter was founded in 2002 and is an affiliate of the Greater Houston Builders Association (GHBA).

Camden Property Trust, an S&P 400 Company, is a real estate company engaged in the ownership, development, acquisition, management and is position of multifamily apartment communities.
