MarkLogic Corporation Doubles Headquarters Presence at Skyway Landing in San Carlos

SAN FRANCISCO, August 2, 2010 - MarkLogic Corporation, a leading provider of information infrastructure software, has extended its existing lease at 999 Skyway Road in San Carlos, CA and expanded into an additional 18,360 square feet, almost doubling its occupancy at the building. MarkLogic now occupies 40,268 square feet of the 115,888 square foot property, which is part of Equity Office Properties' 18.5 million square foot portfolio in Northern California.

Derek Johnson and Chris Holland of Jones Lang LaSalle represented MarkLogic in the expansion and extension of the existing lease to five years. Vahe Soghomonian of Equity Office Properties represented the landlord.

Josh Narva, Vice President of People for MarkLogic, said: "MarkLogic is expanding our headquarters location to accommodate our growing employee base. We took a good look at all of our options and decided expansion in our existing location made the most sense. The full-floor expansion will sustain and support our efforts for the foreseeable future."

MarkLogic, is headquartered in San Carlos, CA. and has offices in Austin, TX, Boston, MA, New York, Washington, DC, London, and Frankfurt, Germany. Last month, the company was named to the prestigious Red Herring 100 as one of the year's most promising private technology ventures in North America.

Built in 2000, Skyway Landing is a three-story, Class A office building, part of a two-building complex on 12.55 acres next to Highway 101 in San Carlos. The mid-Peninsula location is 15 minutes from SFO and downtown Palo Alto and the building is a short distance from retail amenities at Redwood Shores Marketplace.
