CAMDEN GIVES BACK TO COMMUNITY WITH SUPPLIES FOR DALLAS SCHOOLCHILDREN

Dallas, TEXAS (August 18, 2011) – Education funding faces severe cutbacks and more and more parents are finding it difficult to clothe and provide school materials for their children. So, Camden Property Trust (NYSE: CPT) and the Apartment Association of Greater Dallas, in response to an initiative promoted by Mayor Mike Rawlings, plan to deliver school supplies, including more than 300 backpacks, to students at Sam Houston Elementary School during a back to school Pep Rally in the cafeteria on August 26, 2011.

Employees of the Houston-based public company, which owns and operates more than 6,700 apartment homes in the Dallas area, spent the summer collecting supplies for the education drive from residents and staff of its Dallas communities as well as local organizations. One such organization, The Apartment Association of Greater Dallas, donated 300 student backpacks to the cause.

“We want to thank our residents and all the local organizations who got behind this cause, who helped with the effort and gave so generously. They know kids are facing just as much, if not more, hardship as a result of the prolonged economic downturn and we wanted to do something to respond to the mayor’s call and work with principals, teachers and students at various Dallas Independent School District communities,” said Shelley Stone, Senior Regional Marketing Director at Camden Property Trust.

Camden Property Trust, an S&P 400 Company, is a real estate company engaged in the ownership, development, acquisition, management and disposition of multifamily apartment communities. Camden owns interests in and operates 196 properties containing 67,212 apartment homes across the United States. Upon completion of eight properties under development, the Company's portfolio will increase to 69,421 apartment homes in 204 properties. Camden was recently named by FORTUNE® Magazine for the fourth consecutive year as one of the “100 Best Companies to Work For” in America, placing 7th on the list.
