San Francisco, CA – July 10, 2006 – Jones Lang LaSalle announced that Bruce Kimbrew has been promoted to Market Lead of the firm's Project and Development Services (PDS) group. In his new position, he is responsible for developing new business in the San Francisco Bay area and oversees multi-site project management assignments throughout the Northwest region.

In Mr. Kimbrew's previous role as Senior Vice President at Jones Lang LaSalle, he oversaw and directed all aspects of design and construction for Bank of America. Prior to joining Jones Lang LaSalle, Mr. Kimbrew was Operations Manager for Silicon Graphics, where he was responsible for the daily interior and exterior maintenance of a 29-building, 1.5 million-square-foot site. His background also includes serving as Real Property Manager/Chief Resource Management for Onizuka Air Force Base.

"Bruce is an integral part of our Project and Development Services. We are very excited to have him head up our Northwest team," said Lisa Marquis, Senior Vice President, West Region Manager with Jones Lang LaSalle.

Mr. Kimbrew earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Tuskegee University.

Jones Lang LaSalle's Project and Development Services group oversees and manages multi-site build-outs, renovations and new construction projects for clients on a world-wide basis. The group has more than 800 professionals across the country and 1,400 across the globe.
